One of the first people who talked about improving the quality of education with considerable theoretical attention is Edward Anthony. He proposed the structure of teaching in 1963. This structure is a triple triangle, the first side of which is the approach, the second side is the method, and the third side is the teaching techniques. Although his model is a basic model and later concepts such as continuous academic evaluation have been added to this structure.

As it is clear in this figure, academic evaluation is one of the main points of the educational program, and the educational content provides us with the possibility of improving education in the light of a precise educational approach, academic evaluation also measures the accuracy of education and by providing continuous reports to the students, teachers and educational system can guarantee the quality of education.
